

*Vive Vitam ad
Plenum*

Family Coat of Arms

The central theme of my family coat of arms is Vive Vitam ad Plenum, represented by the otter and means to live life to the fullest, which also represents my personality. The other animal, the boar, means bravery; fights to the death. I believe I am brave because I do things that take courage. The leg in the blue, upper right corner, means mobility and strength. I feel that my body is very mobile and strong. The spear means honorable warrior; valiant knight. The linked finger rings means fidelity. I chose this symbol because I am loyal to my friends. The bow in the violet upper right corner means war, power, and ability to hit a target. I believe that I can achieve goals that I set. The cannon means one who has dared the terror of such a weapon in battle. The coin means worthy of trust of treasure. I believe that I can be trusted with valuables. The candle in the lower right red section means light, life, and spirituality. In my family, spirituality mean a lot. The sword means military honor. The lance means the perfection of martial affairs; emblem of knightly service; devotion to honor. Commitment is something that is important to my family and something that I am learning to have. The motor in the lower blue section means one who has dared the terror of such a weapon in battle. Although this has the same meaning as the cannon, it is shown again because my family line is still here. The anvil and hammer means good at trade and craft. Many people in my family are very good at working with their hands and tools. The dagger means military honor because many people in my family have served their country. The caltrop means stealth. The flaming heart means intense, burning affection because I am passionate about my hobbies. My family emblem is the diamond, which means supremacy. This is my family emblem because we don't let other people run our lives. Finally, my family motto is never weary of doing good. I chose this motto because my parents go out of their way to do good things no matter what it takes.
